Why choose us?

History of Artificial Nails

Ming Dynasty, China

Noblewomen wore very long artificial nails as a status symbol indicating that, unlike commoners, they did not have to do manual labor.

1400-1650

Pistachio Shells

In the early 19th century in Greece, many upper-class women wore empty pistachio shells over their nails, slowly spreading the artificial nail trend across Europe.

1954

Fred Slack, Patti Nails

Fred Slack, a dentist, broke his fingernail at work, and invented the first artificial nail as a realistic looking temporary replacement. After experiments with different materials to perfect his invention, he and his brother, Tom, patented a successful version and started the company Patti Nails.

Acrylics, Gels, and Wraps

There are several different types of artificial nails, including acrylic, wraps, gel and press-on nails. Some salons may have specialty nail applications as well. Such as "Diamond Dust" nails. They each have different compositions, techniques, and costs involved.

Development History of Gel Polish

3000 B.C. Egypt

Women in ancient Egypt dye their fingertips with henna to broadcast their social status and sex appeal.

1870's First Nail Salon

One of the first commercial nail salons opened in Paris. The salon used creams, tinted oils, and powders to clean nails and buff them to a shine-that's why we call it nail "polish" .

1932 Revlon

Revlon became the first established nail polish brand in 1932 when they released a cream color.

1940's Hollywood

With the help of Technicolor and glamorous actresses, embellished nails became an element of high fashion. Red symbolized regality and was worn by Hollywood royalty.

B.C

19th Century

20st Century

600 B.C. China

Noblemen and women of China's Chou dynasty sprinkle their nails with gold and silver dust.

1920 The Moon Manicure

Makeup artist Michelle Menard adapted the enamel used for cars for use on nails, resulting in a glossy lacquer similar to the polish we use today. Her creation was popular among flappers who generally only painted the middle of the nail, leaving the cuticles and tip bare in a style known as "The Moon Manicure" .

1976 French Manicure

The French manicure made its debut on Paris runways by Jeff Pink, the founder of Orly and became instant success.

1980~2010 Gel Polish

Gel nails first appeared in the U.S. in the early 1980s, but were met with limited success due to lack of technology and education on gel application. But by the end of the '90s, gel nails were back on the U.S. nail scene with much-improved formulas. By 2010, 63% of salons offered gel nail services to their clients, and gel are one of the most frequently added services to salon menus.
